About The NCS™

The National Community Survey™ (The NCS™) report is about the “livability” of Lake Havasu City. A livable community is a place that is not simply habitable, but that is desirable. It is not only where people do live, but where they want to live. The NCS was developed by the experts from National Research Center at Polco in partnership with the International City/County Management Association (ICMA) and has been administered in hundreds of communities across the United States.

Great communities are partnerships of the government, private sector, community-based organizations, and residents, all geographically connected. The NCS focuses on the livability of Lake Havasu City by categorizing survey questions into the ten main “facets” of community livability shown below, in addition to ratings for quality of life and local governance. These facets have been identified through years of extensive survey research as those that are most impactful to residents’ quality of life.

- Economy
- Mobility
- Community Design
- Utilities
- Natural Environment
- Parks and Recreation
- Health and Wellness
- Education, Arts, and Culture
- Community Connection

The report provides the opinions of a representative sample of 3,000 residents of Lake Havasu City collected from January 13th, 2026 to February 24th, 2026. The margin of error around any reported percentage is 4.8% for all respondents. Survey results were weighted so that the demographic profile of respondents was representative of the demographic profile of adults in Lake Havasu City.

Reporting Results

For the most part, the percentages presented in this report represent the “percent positive.” Most commonly, the percent positive is the combination of the top two most positive response options (excellent/good, very safe/somewhat safe, etc.). On many of the questions in the survey, respondents may answer “don’t know.” The proportion of respondents giving a “don’t know” response is shown in the full set of responses included in the “Complete Data” section; however, these responses have been removed from the analyses presented in the main body of the report. Therefore, the tables and graphs display the responses from respondents who had an opinion about a specific item.

Benchmark Comparisons

Polco’s database of comparative resident opinion is comprised of resident perspectives gathered in surveys from over 400 communities whose residents evaluated the same kinds of topics on The NCS. The comparison evaluations include surveys from the past five years. If a jurisdiction has conducted multiple efforts in the past five years, only the most recent survey is included in the benchmark database. Polco adds the latest results quickly upon survey completion, keeping the benchmark data fresh and relevant. The communities in the database represent a wide geographic and population range.

In each tab, Lake Havasu City’s results are noted as being “higher” than the benchmark, “lower” than the benchmark, or “similar” to the benchmark. Being rated as “higher” or “lower” than the benchmark means that Lake Havasu City’s average rating for a particular item was more than 10 points different than the benchmark. If a rating was “much higher” or “much lower,” then Lake Havasu City’s average rating was more than 20 points different when compared to the benchmark.

Trends over time

Trend data for Lake Havasu City represent important comparison data and should be examined for improvements or declines.¹ Deviations from stable trends over time represent opportunities for understanding how local policies, programs, or public information may have affected residents’ opinions. Changes between survey years have been noted with an arrow and the percent difference. If the difference is greater than 6.4% percentage points between the 2023 and 2026 surveys, the change is statistically significant.

1. In 2020, The NCS survey was updated to include new and refreshed items. Consequently, some of the trends may be impacted due to wordin..

Methods

Selecting Survey Recipients

All households within Lake Havasu City were eligible to participate in the survey. A list of all households within the zip codes serving Lake Havasu City was purchased from Polco's mailing vendor, based on updated listings from the United States Postal Service.

Since some of the zip codes that serve Lake Havasu City households may also serve addresses that lie outside of the community, the exact geographic location of each housing unit was compared to community boundaries using the most current municipal boundary file. Addresses located outside of Lake Havasu City boundaries were removed from the list of potential households to survey. From that list, addresses were randomly selected as survey recipients, with multi-family housing units sampled at a rate of 5:3 compared to single family housing units.

Conducting the Random Sample Survey

The 3,000 randomly selected households received mailings beginning on January 13th, 2026 and data collection for the survey remained open for six weeks. The first mailing was a postcard inviting the household to participate in the survey online. The next mailing contained a cover letter with instructions, the survey questionnaire, and a postage-paid return envelope. All mailings included a web link to give residents the opportunity to respond to the survey online, as well as QR codes to further encourage participation.

The survey was available in English and Spanish. All mailings contained paragraphs in both languages instructing participants on how to access the survey in their preferred language.

About 5% of the 3,000 mailed invitations were returned because the household address was vacant or the postal service was unable to deliver the survey as addressed. Of the remaining 2,856 households that received the invitations to participate, 414 completed the survey, providing an overall response rate of 14%. Of the 414 responses, 414 were completed in English and 0 were completed in Spanish. The response rate was calculated using AAPOR's response rate #2 for mailed surveys of unnamed persons.¹

It is customary to describe the precision of estimates by a "level of confidence" and accompanying "confidence interval" (or margin of error). A traditional level of confidence, and the one used here, is 95%. The 95% confidence interval quantifies the sampling error or imprecision of the survey results based on the total number of responses received. This is because some residents' opinions are relied on to estimate all residents' opinions. The margin of error for Lake Havasu City survey is no greater than plus or minus 4.8% percentage points around any given percent reported for all respondents (414 completed surveys).

Conducting the Open Participation Survey

In addition to the randomly selected "probability sample" of households, a link to an online open-participation survey was publicized by Lake Havasu City. The open-participation survey was identical to the random sample survey, with two small updates; it asked a question to confirm the respondent was a resident of Lake Havasu City and also a question about where they heard about the survey.

The open participation survey was open to all city residents and became available on February 10th, 2026. The survey remained open for two weeks and 591 responses were received. The data presented in the following report excludes the open participation survey data, but the online report includes a tab which provides the complete open participation results.

Analyzing the Data

Responses from mailed surveys were entered into an electronic dataset using a “key and verify” method, where all responses are entered twice and compared to each other. Any discrepancies were resolved in comparison to the original survey form. Range checks as well as other forms of quality control were also performed. Responses from surveys completed on Polco were downloaded and merged with the mailed survey responses.

The survey datasets were analyzed using all or some of a combination of the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS), R, Python, and Tableau.

The demographics of the survey respondents were compared to those found in the 2020 Census and 2024 American Community Survey estimates for adults in Lake Havasu City. The primary objective of weighting survey data is to make the survey respondents reflective of the larger population of the community. The characteristics used for weighting were age, sex, race, Hispanic origin, housing type, and housing tenure. No adjustments were made for design effects. Weights were calculated using an iterative, multiplicative raking model known as the ANES Weighting Algorithm.² The results of the weighting scheme for the probability sample are presented in the following table.

		Unweighted	Weighted	Target ⁴
Age	18-34	2%	8%	19%
	35-54	7%	24%	22%
	55+	91%	67%	60%

Study Limitations

All public opinion research is subject to unmeasured error. While the methodologies employed for this survey were designed to minimize this error as much as possible, these other sources of potential error should be acknowledged, and can include non-response error, coverage error, recall bias, and social desirability bias.

Non-response error arises when those who were selected to participate in the survey did not do so, and may have different opinions or experiences than survey responders. For general resident surveys, where the results are meant to be generalized to the entire adult population living in households, the mailing lists based on the Delivery Sequence File from the United States Post Office may exclude certain types of housing units, such as those in multi-family buildings where mail is addressed to a named resident at the address rather than to a specific unit or where residents only receive their mail at a post office box and the geographic location of a residence cannot be determined, there may be a coverage error, although for most locations, this is minimal. Respondents may not perfectly remember their experiences in the past year (such as participation in social or civic events, for example), and for some survey items, they may answer in ways they think cast their responses in a more favorable light (recall bias and social desirability bias).

Key Findings

Community Strengths

Residents rate Lake Havasu highly as a place to live and visit.

- A majority of community members positively rated their neighborhood as a place to live (87% excellent or good).
- Lake Havasu City as a place to visit received very strong ratings (90%), much higher than the national benchmark.
- About 8 in 10 respondents planned to remain in Lake Havasu City for the next five years.
- Almost three-quarters of participants would recommend living in Lake Havasu City to someone who asks, and positively rated the city as a place to retire.

Community members feel safe across the city.

- Over 9 in 10 respondents indicated that they felt safe in their neighborhood and Lake Havasu City's downtown/commercial area during the day.
- Strong feelings of safety also extended into specific scenarios including feeling safe from:
 - Violent crime (87% somewhat safe or very safe)
 - Fire, flood, or other natural disasters (86%)
 - Property crime (84%)
- Participants rated fire services (91%) and fire prevention and education highly, with the latter significantly increasing since 2023 (from 71% to 81%).

Residents report many ways to connect through events and community involvement.

- Almost 9 in 10 respondents rated opportunities to attend special events and festivals positively, higher than the national benchmark.
- About three-quarters of community members gave positive reviews for opportunities to participate in social events and activities, also higher than the national benchmark.
- A similar proportion of residents rated the opportunities to volunteer positively (79%).
- Residents' connection and engagement with their community remains stable, with over half rating it positively (58%).

Focus Areas

Transportation and mobility results may indicate opportunities for improvement.

- About a third of residents rated the overall quality of the transportation system positively.
- Public transit continued to receive limited positive ratings: less than 2 in 10 community members offered excellent or good reviews to the ease of travel by public transportation and bus or transit services.
- The ease of travel by bicycle showed a statistically significant decrease (from 49% in 2023 to 33% in 2026).
- The ease of walking also showed a statistically significant decrease to 47% (from 56% in 2026).
- All of these items were rated lower than the national benchmark.

Access to health services remains a key opportunity area.

- Only 2 in 10 residents positively rated the availability of affordable quality health care, and availability of affordable quality mental health care.

- A similar share of respondents gave excellent or good reviews to the availability of preventive health services (21%), showing a statistically significant decrease from 2023.
- Health services in Lino Lakes received positive ratings from about a quarter of respondents and showed a statistically significant decrease (from 34% in 2023 to 25% in 2026).
- All of these items were rated lower than the national benchmark.

Economic and employment perceptions show room to strengthen.

- Fewer than half of respondents rated overall economic health positively, showing a statistically significant decrease from the previous survey (from 54% in 2023 to 47% in 2026).
- Only about 2 in 10 residents gave positive ratings for employment opportunities. This item also showed a statistically significant decrease from 2023.
- Excellent or good ratings of Lake Havasu City as a place to work were limited (27%).
- Shopping opportunities also drew fewer positive ratings (24% excellent or good)...

Other Notable Results

- Just over half of respondents (53%) supported limiting the percentage of a home's front yard used for parking operable vehicles.
 - For these individuals, almost 6 in 10 said that 25% should be the maximum percentage of the front yard allowed.
- About two-thirds of community members agreed the City should collaborate with downtown businesses to complete the unfinished "Welcome to Havasu" arch project using the existing pillars, with about 4 in 10 strongly agreeing.
- Over half of residents indicated that they would need more information when considering how much funding, if any, the City should receive through a municipal bond measure to purchase shoreline and island properties from the State.
- Many community members supported major community investments: 72% strongly or somewhat agreed the community would benefit from a new Community Center, and 84% agreed that there is a need for commercial air service at the municipal airport.

Areas of Greatest Change

Of the 121 evaluative questions included on both the 2023 and current survey iterations, 102 were statistically similar to previous results. Upward trends were seen in 6 items, while 13 ratings decreased since 2023. The most significant of those trends are listed below.

Increases

- Street cleaning (+10 %)
- Fire prevention and education increased to (+9%)
- Public library services (+9%)

Decreases

- Ease of travel by bicycle in Lake Havasu City (-16%)
- Lake Havasu City as a place to live (-12%)
- Adult educational opportunities (-10%)
- Overall opportunities for education, culture, and the arts (-10%)

Facets of Livability

Every jurisdiction must balance limited resources while meeting resident needs and striving to optimize community livability. To this end, it is helpful to know what aspects of the community are most important to residents and which they perceive as being of higher or lower quality. It is especially helpful to know when a facet of livability is considered of high importance but rated as lower quality, as this should be a top priority to address.

Quality and Importance by the Numbers

The chart below shows the proportion of respondents who provided excellent or good quality ratings for each of the ten facets of community livability (shown in green). Also displayed are the importance ratings for each of the ten facets (percent essential or very important, shown in blue). Finally, the shading in each chart corresponds with the national benchmark comparison.

Quality/Importance Gap Analysis

The gap analysis chart below shows the same data as above; however, this chart illustrates the differences in quality and importance ratings for each facet, as well as the absolute ratings for each.

Quality of Life
